Harrison Street Bridge Reopens

CHICAGO – The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) announced that the new Harrison Street bridge over the Dan Ryan Expressway (Interstate 90/94), between Des Plaines Street and Halsted Street, in Chicago, reopens on Thursday, April 21.

The new bridge features one lane of traffic in each direction, a dedicated bike lane and wider sidewalks for pedestrians.

The Harrison Street bridge replacement is part of the ongoing Jane Byrne Interchange Project. Visit www.circleinterchange.org for more information.
